

Addendum: Contributing, Non-Contributing Resources, and Potentially Contributing Resources

Within the Old Town Planning Area there are three classifications of properties for consideration in the development of historic districts: properties that contribute to the districts; properties that do not contribute due to insufficient age or a lack of integrity; and properties that are potential contributors but require more information to determine National Register of Historic Places eligibility. This project used a combination windshield and walking survey to photograph the properties and, when possible, compared said images to those publicly available on Google Maps, insurance maps, aerial photographs, and public records. This method of recordation, made from the public right-of-way, limited visual access to a significant number of properties within the study area due to mature landscaping restricting the view of the home. Other potential contributors include relocated houses and mobile homes requiring dates for home placement and subsequent modifications.

The survey also identified properties that would not be contributors to a residential historic district, such as the previously listed Willard Home at 1127 N. Main St. which, while located within the Old Town Planning Area, was built outside of the period of significance. Also within the study area are the Marcus J. Lawrence Medical Clinic at 753 N. Main St., Hopi Court at 767 N. Main St., and James Auto Court at 107 E. Pinal St., all of which could be contributors included in an expanded Cottonwood Commercial Historic District as was the Verde Baptist Church at 791 N. Main St also within this survey. The former Cottonwood Funeral Home at 116 E. Pinal St. might also qualify as a contributor but more information is needed. Located outside of the study area but within the period of significance is an agricultural property at 1091 N. 4th St. that might be eligible under an agricultural context.
